To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation on behalf of Tuyen Ngoc Tran in support of her application for an internship position.

I am an adjunct professor of Business Information Management at Seminole State College of Florida. I teach Global Business, International Marketing, and Strategic Opportunity Analysis and Franchising.

Prior to serving as an adjunct professor, I was a senior executive and global strategist for a multinational company operating in fifty-five countries and regions.

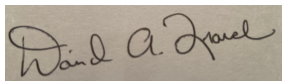

I first met Tuyen several years ago when we relocated to Florida and my wife was a client of the nail salon where Tuyen worked. From the beginning of our friendship, I was and remain very impressed with Tuyen. She has great personal integrity. Tuyen is results oriented and has a natural inclination to work hard with a clear line of sight on the goals she sets for herself or by the team on which she is a strong contributor and a valued asset.

With her warm and friendly demeanor, Tuyen relates very well to others, clients, colleagues, and fellow students. In her studies at Seminole State College, in successful pursuit of her associate degree in computer science, I continued as a mentor to her.

It was during this time that I discovered Tuyen is incredibly gifted with mathematical skills making her a considerable asset to positions that require logic, critical thinking, collaboration, problem solving and perseverance. She has continued to develop and hone these unique talents at the University of Central Florida. Happy will be the company to whom Tuyen brings these skills.

My recommendation of Tuyen Ngoc Tran for the position of intern could not be more positive. I am confident that, given the opportunity, Tuyen will not only be a strong contributor to the mission of the organization, but will excel in this position. I have provided my email address below and am happy to respond to any questions you may have.

Sincerely,
